

Visiting from the USA for Mayflower400

If you are visiting the UK from abroad do you want to discover some hidden gems and get under the skin of a destination and immerse yourselves in the sights, sounds and smells of the area? If so staying at The Ivy Barn Bed and Breakfast will allow you to do this:

- We are located in a small, quiet, rural village in South Devon where you can immerse yourself in the culture, heritage and countryside and experience rural life.
- By staying at The Ivy Barn you have a chance to meet real locals
- The area is identified as one of the Areas of Natural Outstanding Beauty
- We are close to a traditional British pub serving local beers and ciders which is full of history and with a lovely, friendly, warm atmosphere. You may be lucky enough to be able to join in the local pub quiz, experience a music session with some local folk songs
- We are close to the South West Coast Path where there are some lovely walks
- We are close to a beautiful beach called Mothecombe Beach and a stunning tidal estuary beach
- Holbeton and the surrounding area has been used for the film locations for My Cousin Rachel, Rebecca, International Velvet, Sense and Sensibility, and English TV Series The Coroner and Hornblower
- We are only 10 miles from Plymouth and the Mayflower steps where the Mayflower finally departed British soil on 16th September 1620
- We are half an hour away from the stunning Dartmoor National Park where the story of The Hound of the Baskervilles was set
- We can provide you with ideas on historic towns and other places to visit, places to eat where you can enjoy some British food
- We have details of local walks enjoyed by our past guests
- By staying at The Ivy Barn you will be away from the hustle and bustle of a busy city or town and you will experience something different
- Most importantly after exploring the area you will have a relaxing nights stay at The Ivy Barn where we have ensuite bathrooms and breakfast described as 'out of this world' is included in our room rate
- We offer a warm and friendly welcome to all of our guests